2449. SHRI KAMAL MORARKA: Will the Minister of PETROLEUM AND NATURAL GAS be pleased to srate:

(a) what are the main reasons for tardy progress on the initiatives taken by Government over the last three years to rescuse India's sagging performance in crude prdoudetion;

(b) the number of decisions that have been delayed along with the reasons there-iar; and

(c) the steps that are contemplaied to step up the intensity of oil exploration and on production?

THE MINISTER OF STATE OF THE MINISTRY OF PETROLEUM AND NATURAL GAS (CAPTAIN SATISH SHARMAK (a) to (c) Govt, have initial-. J a number of measures to erhance crude production. The short-term measures initialed have already brought in a production gain of over one million tonnes during the current year. The medium term measures such as the development of new fields are expected to add to the production from 1994-95 onwards. All these neasures taken together are expected to put indigenous production of crude oil on and upward r?th from 1994-95 reaching a level of about 44.45 million tonnes by 1996-97.

In addition, Govt, have also adopted following measures to enhance exploration activity:

(1) greater efforts by ONGC and OIL to carry out intensive exploration work;

(2) upgrade the quality of data in the relatively under-explored blocks; and

(3) inviting Indian and foreign companies to bid for exploration blocks.
